

Colton Hall Goes to the Movies!!

From black & white to color, from private release to box office hit, Colton Hall has been featured in numerous films.

Four Daughters (1938), Starring John Garfield, Priscilla Lane, Rosemary Lane, Gale Page

A small town's family's life is shattered when a rebellious musician comes to town.
(Scenes filmed in front of Colton Hall)

Dust Be My Destiny (1939) Starring John Garfield, Priscilla Lane, Alan Hale

A troubled man lands on a prison chain gang and falls for the foreman's daughter with terrible results.
(Scenes filmed in front of Colton Hall)

California (1947), Starring Barbara Stanwyck, Ray Milland, Barry Fitzgerald

A story of California's journey toward statehood during the mass migration to the California gold fields.
(Colton Hall assumes its original appearance and furnishings of 100 years ago to portray a state capital)

Julie (1956), Starring Doris Day, Louis Jourdan, Barry Sullivan

A terrified wife tries to escape her jealous husband who is determined to kill her.
(Colton Hall becomes a Carmel police station)

A Summer Place (1959), Starring Sandra Dee, Troy Donahue, Richard Egan

While on vacation, a successful businessman rekindles a relationship with an old flame while their children fall in love with disastrous consequences.
(Colton Hall is a dormitory at a private girl's school in Massachusetts)

Susan Slade (1961), Starring Troy Donahue, Dorothy McGuire, Connie Stevens

A well-to-do pregnant teen allows her mother to pass the baby off as her own, but struggles with the need to tell the truth to her two prospective suitors.
(Once again, Colton Hall is a Carmel Police Station)

The Big Bounce (1969), Starring Ryan O'Neal, Leigh Taylor-Young, Lee Grant, Van Heflin

When a Vietnam veteran with a criminal record is fired from his job as a migrant worker, he is persuaded by a seductive woman to rob a payroll account on a California farm.